Introduction

The Framework for Junior Cycle (2015) outlines the key educational changes that the Department of Education and Skills (DES) is putting in place for young people in the first three years of their post-primary education, and represents one of the most significant educational reforms in Ireland since the foundation of the state. The framework incorporates a shared understanding of how teaching, learning and assessment practices should evolve to support the delivery of a quality, inclusive and relevant education that will meet the needs of all junior cycle students, now and in the future.

Short courses are a new and optional curricular component within the Framework for Junior Cycle. Short courses allow a school the flexibility to broaden the range of learning experiences for students, meet student needs, address their interests, and encompass areas of learning not covered by the combination of curricular subjects available in the school. Short courses require 100 hours of student engagement and are assessed through Classroom-Based Assessment, and reported on to parents/guardians and students by the school.

The Framework for Junior Cycle (2015) presents a hugely developmental opportunity for Artistic Performance in schools. The introduction by the National Council for Curriculum and Assessment (NCCA) of the Short Course in Artistic Performance (2016) provide opportunities for schools to;

- design a outcomes-based learning experience in Artistic Performance to suit the needs and interests of their students.
- allow students to profile their achievements in Artistic Performance on the final award at Junior Cycle - the Junior Cycle Profile of Achievement

The Junior Cycle for Teachers (JCT) school support service was established in 2013 to assist schools in implementing their junior cycle programme through the provision of high quality continuing professional development (CPD) opportunities and relevant learning and teaching resources.

The following resources have been developed by the Short Courses teams within JCT to assist Artistic Performance departments in their work in terms of curriculum planning and programme development.

They include:
